When he woke up, the day had come
With every nerve he felt, that he had to write his song

That was when time stood still
Yeah time stood still

You know how it feels being burned out and down
But you can't rest, the show must go on

That was when time stood still
Yeah time stood still

Sometimes there is an end
Sometimes there's nothing
Sometimes he'll find the words
And he starts to sing

That was when time stood still
Yeah time stood still
